Prices are slightly higher per month when billed monthly. Advise users of the following items: They can schedule a Microsoft Teams meeting from Outlook with the Microsoft Teams meetings plug in or from Microsoft Teams directly. This makes WebEx Meetings a better choice for those who host advanced web meetings. If the activation process doesn't start by itself, then you enter your information manually. Webex Calling with Control Hub—You use Control Hub to manage your device and to provision Webex Calling for call control. Its Professional plan is $12 per month, billed annually, and allows 150 participants. They can also join by dialing the IVR video address and entering the VTC conference ID from the meeting invite, or by dialing the URI listed in the Alternate VTC dialing instructions. Directory No Yes Yes Allows user to call a coworker from a company directory. Cisco WebEx Meetings, while user-friendly, is not as intuitive as GoToMeeting. Unified CM Calling with Control Hub—You use Unified CM for call control and Control Hub for device management. The phone requires a Domain Name System (DNS) address. Don't use any other cables or adapters. WebEx features switched architecture, meaning the session information from the presenter's machine going to the attendees' computers is switched, so it's never permanently stored. Security measures in GoToMeeting include an SSL-encrypted website and end-to-end 128-bit AES encryption. Invite participants to a meeting that has started via email, voice conference, or instant messenger. The active speaker doesn't display. Cisco WebEx Meetings, in comparison, has more features than GoToMeeting. The following status message displays in Status messages: UTC dclient-script: W: eth0 => received reason: STOP The device requires an IP address from DHCP. Table 1. Guest share No Yes Yes Allows user to share content without a Webex account. Registering for and installing WebEx is easy, although it takes a few more minutes than GoToMeeting. Enter a DNS address in the Network Settings. The integration with Microsoft Teams has these requirements: A Microsoft 365 tenant with Microsoft Teams accounts for users in the organization An active Webex organization Licenses for each one of your devices For additional information, see the . Use the Bulk Administration Tool (BAT) for bulk deployment to Cisco Unified Communications Manager (Unified CM). Cable sharing—Outside of call or meeting Yes Yes Yes Allows users to share content from a laptop screen with the HDMI cable. We evaluated both to help you decide which one would work best for you and your remote workers. GoToMeeting is user-friendly and easy-to-use. WebEx has instant messaging, video support (showing up to six participants at a time), file transfers, screen and application sharing, and the ability to assign privileges to individual participants. GoToMeeting offers a free 14-day trial, while Cisco WebEx Meetings has a free version for personal use with fewer features. — A red dot displays in the top-left corner of the phone home screen. It has data centers all over the world and audio quality is consistently high. We recommend that you connect the phone to a HDMI display screen so you get the full benefits of the device. Enhanced Webex Meetings experience No Yes Yes Allows users to participate in an enhanced Webex Meetings experience with the following features: Meeting notifications—User receives a notification before the meeting starts. Cisco WebEx Meetings has plans ranging from free to $26.95 per month. Both services offer several plans. If they add the phone calendar to the invite or if the invitation is forwarded to the mailbox configured for their device, then they can join from the phone with One Button to Push. You can easily deploy and set up the Webex Room Phone. Call history and Predictive dialing Yes Yes Yes Allows users to easily make a call. A red dot indicates an issue with the call service. Wireless sharing with Webex No Yes Yes Allows user to collaborate with coworkers by sharing information without your HDMI cable. Table 4. Only use the included HDMI cables when you connect to an HDMI screen or a computer. Getting a user account is quick and requires only two simple steps. Proximity pairing No Yes Yes Allows user to connect a phone to Webex. Connect the phone to your network, wait for the device to power up, and enter your information when you see the prompts. Tap the red dot and configure a call service. Hold and resume Yes No Yes Allows user to put an active call on hold and then resume the call when ready. Its $16 per month (billed annually) Business plan is the most popular, allowing 250 participants. Meeting recording is available only for PC users. It also boasts an SSL-encrypted website. The following table lists the features available with each option. If you want to explore more advanced features, give Cisco WebEx Meetings a try. Starter (50 participants), Plus (100 participants), and Business (200 participants) plans offer an array of features for $13.50, $17.95, and $26.95, respectively. GoToMeeting has a free 14-day trial where you can get to know the product's basic functionality. Both GoToMeeting and Cisco WebEx Meetings are popular online meeting tools with similar functionality that allow users to meet at any time, from anywhere. Lobby—Participants wait in a virtual lobby for the meeting to start. If you deploy for Webex Calling with Control Hub or Unified CM Calling with Control Hub, then a firewall can block your connection to Control Hub. Share content in the MS teams meetings with an HDMI cable. The Webex Room Phone supports these call control options: Cisco Unified Communications Manager (Unified CM) Calling—You use Unified CM for call control and device management. WebEx, like GoToMeeting, is extremely reliable, providing both high-quality audio and video. You can't go wrong with either one. Calendar and One Button to Push No Yes Yes Allows users to view scheduled WebexMeetings and join with a single tap. Calls time-out after a period of inactivity. Confirm that your device connects to an open port on the router. — GoToMeeting and Cisco WebEx Meetings are two popular online meeting tools, also known as web conferencing tools. One Button to Push is not supported for Unified CM Calling. Webex Video Integration for Microsoft Teams allows users to join Microsoft Teams meetings from their phone. GoToMeeting is highly rated for reliability and performance. GoToMeeting has a simple and intuitive interface, offering instant messaging, scheduled meetings, Outlook integration, audio conferencing via phone and computer, screen and application sharing, and attendance reporting. Check for a DHCP server configuration or configure a static IP. Once its Outlook add-on is installed, it's easy to plan meetings. Call history—Lists your last 25 calls; select from the list. Features vary on the different plan levels of GoToMeeting and Cisco WebEx Meetings. WebexVideo Integration for Microsoft Teams Yes Yes Yes Allows users to schedule and join Microsoft Teams meetings. With this integration, the following features are supported on the device: One Button to Push for MS teams meetings. People who have never used an online meeting tool can quickly learn to use it. Active speaker—When an attendee speaks, then their icon lights up. Here's what you need to know to deploy and activate your phone. Use the Webex Device Connector for bulk deployment to Control Hub. Both GoToMeeting and Cisco WebEx Meetings are easy to use, reliable, secure, and excellent tools for web conferencing. But if you have trouble with device activation, then use the information in the following table to assist you. Participant list—A list of people in attendance. The free plan provides 40-minute meetings with 50 participants, HD video, screen sharing, and a personal room. View remote share initiated from other participants in the MS teams meetings. Digital signage No Yes Yes Allows user to see custom content on a HDMI display screen such as company announcements. Custom enterprise plans are also available. Both offer an impressive array of features and are reliable, safe, and easy to use. Sharing video through screen sharing is reliable, although it suffers occasional slight delays. It's also easy to invite attendees to a web meeting, especially since the tool integrates with Outlook with no need to install an add-on. However, screen sharing isn't always robust when transmitting video. GoToMeeting is a browser-based tool, so it doesn't require any downloads to be used. However, if you prefer a simpler tool, GoToMeeting is a great choice. You add the phone to Unified CM, and activate your features and services. It works with PC and Mac computers and offers a useful iPhone and iPad app, so it's easy to meet when you're on the go.
